

JOURNAL DESCRIPTION AND MISSION

The Journal of Gerontological Nursing is a monthly, peer-reviewed journal publishing clinically relevant original articles on the practice of gerontological nursing across the continuum of care and in a variety of health care settings. The Journal adheres to the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals (2008) of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors.

MANUSCRIPT TYPES AND REQUIREMENTS

Original manuscripts should be no more than 16 double-spaced pages in length, excluding references, figures, and tables. In addition to original articles, the Journal publishes the following sections: Clinical Concepts, Diagnosis: Dementia, Geropharmacology, Legal Issues, Public Policy, Research Briefs, and Technology Innovations. Research Brief articles should be 8 to 10 double-spaced pages in length, including references, figures, and tables.

All manuscripts must address the clinical nursing implications of the topic and/or research being discussed. These implications should be evident throughout the manuscript. All manuscripts must also include an abstract of approximately 150 words with a focus on findings and conclusions.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Manuscripts must conform to the guidelines for manuscript preparation of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th ed. (2009). Uploaded manuscript files should be devoid of author identification, including title page, to facilitate blind peer review. All pages should be numbered.

Manuscripts should be submitted electronically at www.RapidReview.com. For detailed instructions for submitting online, contact the editorial office at jgn@slackinc.com.

Photographs are a positive addition to any manuscript. Permission to publish must be obtained in writing from all individuals photographed. Contact the editorial office at jgn@slackinc.com for image submission requirements. In case studies involving actual people, their written release is required.

If applicable, authors should describe the role of the study sponsor, if any, in study design; collection, analysis, and interpretation of data; writing the report; and the decision to submit the report for publication. If the supporting source had no such involvement, the authors should so state. If applicable, authors must declare whether they had assistance with study design, data collection, data analysis, or manuscript preparation.

Reports of studies involving human subjects must indicate procedures for the protection of their rights, as well as IRB approval. If academic, hospital, organizational, or institutional affiliations are mentioned in the manuscript, it is the responsibility of the author(s) to obtain written permission from the proper authorities (e.g., dean, director) to use the names of such. If the manuscript reports on a registered clinical trial and has been assigned a trial registration number from a public trials registry, please provide this information.

COPYRIGHT AND PERMISSIONS

Articles are accepted for consideration with the understanding that they are submitted solely to the Journal of Gerontological Nursing and have not been published previously.

Authors must inform SLACK Incorporated if tables, photos, or illustrations have been previously published. Material reprinted from other publications (including electronic media) must be accompanied by a letter of permission from the publisher, which extends non-exclusive worldwide rights to reprint the material for all forms of media now or hereafter developed to SLACK Incorporated.

Before any manuscript can be considered for publication, the Author Statement must be completed in full, signed, and dated by each author. The Author Statement can be found in PDF format online at <http://www.jognonline.com/about.asp>.

PEER REVIEW

The Journal of Gerontological Nursing is a juried publication employing the blind peer review system. All submissions will be evaluated using the following criteria:

1. The importance and relevance of the topic to gerontological nursing care; the generalizability of the ideas/research findings.
2. Readability; concise, logical ordering of ideas.
3. Sound rationale for ideas, including background.
4. Adequate documentation of ideas; citation of recent and relevant literature.
5. Appropriateness of inquiry methods, including design, sample, instruments, and procedures, if research.
6. Accuracy of content; soundness of conclusions.

Following unbiased review by the Editorial Advisory Board, Review Panel, and Editor, authors will be notified by e-mail of the manuscript decision. It is recommended that novice authors have their manuscripts reviewed by their well-published peers, instructors, or mentors prior to submission.

Upon publication, the Journal reserves the right to edit manuscripts, delete extraneous or excess material, and change or add titles and headings. It is not Journal policy to provide monetary compensation for articles. However, complimentary copies of the journal issue in which a published article appears will be mailed to the corresponding author.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Journal accepts letters to the Editor about previously published articles or other topics relevant to gerontological nursing practice. Letters should be no longer than 500 words, including references, if any. All letters should contain a clear message or point for readers. Letters may be edited for clarity or length, and may be submitted to the article author for a response. Letter authors must disclose any competing or conflicting interests, if applicable. Letters should be e-mailed directly to the editorial office at jgn@slackinc.com.
